POSTLUD: " TO A DAY WITH BOBBY HITCHELL !!

Our assistant editor of the Rebel Yell, Pete Lennon, has just acheived the honor of second place in a Junior Journalism Contest sponsored by the Armier Chamber of commerce of Washington D.C.

Students, representing newspaper staffs from schools of the greater Maskington and Hotropolitan area, attended KING: Steve Bernard the Press Conference last fall. The guest was Bobby Mitchell of the Washington Redskins. The essay was based on his Enterpretation of the student-wide interview. The five judges based their designous on human intrest, reporting accuracy, use of language, grammar, and mayle. Pote's work in their opinions, excelled in all of these areas:

Recently Pete was presented a plaque at a banquet given by the Jacees. At this time he was congratulated by lir. latchell himself.

Editorial Response to letters to the editor on page 5: Dang Susan:

I think that you are getting the trong idea about the student council. It is almost equally represented in all grades, You, yourself, know about the hond from representatives from the minth grade. This is also true about the eighth over the other grades. As you say, and seventh grades. If these students wish to receive greater representation, they should stand up and say so. If there is a so-called monopoly, perhaps it is the fault of the seventh and eighth

KING AND QUEEN OF HEARTS by Signe Bush

For the Valentines Dance on February 15, 1963, it was decided that we have a King and Queen of Hearts. Five girls and five boys were elected from each homercom, totaling 35 boys and 35 girls, The whole minth grade voted on these and five were elected from both lists. The following candidates were elected for

Larry Hunt David Johnson Duke Walsh Artie Wimer

QUEEN: Trude Brookbank Lynn Coleman Susan Holler Linda Peterson Mancy Sellner

No one except lr. Rlandford know, until the dance, who won. At about 9:30 Mr. Burgess crowned the King and Queen-Duke Walsh and Trude Brookbank, After starting a dence, the court joined in with the King and Jueen, and finally every one was dancing again.

The total amount of money collected from the dance was A15.

Many people feel that this dance was much better than the Harvest Hop-Tables for eating refreshments and a place, other than chairs for our coats. were appealing to everyone.

Perhaps if this continues more people will come and enjoy thomselves. * * * * * * * * * *

In reply to your other letter, I agree that we should have some direct privileges we were promised this in other grades when we were attending other schools. However, let us keep in mind that this is a new school.

The Basketball Scene This is another tale of triumph for our "Fantastic Five" as they clipped Fredrick Sasscer by two points. This game started at approximatly 1:30 p.m. in the schools gym, which was a scene of college. massive pandmomium, with red and gray from one end of the gym to the other. --The Rebels and member of the Sasser team lined up, the ball was tipped, and the contest began with Sasser comming first. This first quarter proved that the teams were evenly matched. At the end of this quarter, Taney led by a slim margin of one point.

The second quarter began with Taney getting the tap and following with a se score. Ridway in the second quarter, Taney forged shead by three points, the largest lead of the came. Then Sasser fired up and came back to tie and " go ahead! This one point lead quickly disappeared as the two teams again evend the score.

If the fans thought the first half was exciting they had only to wait for the remaning play. The lead see-sawed back and forth through the third quarter and no Taney fan could rest easy. But the pitch of the day proved to come in the last and final quarter.

The fourth and most exciting quarter situation. was now under way, with a tie for first at stake. It seemed that our boys were " playing their hearts out" that last quarter but it seemed that Sasser had "come to play" too. Then in the last seconds Taney scored the go ahead and as the bell rang, the gym rocked with tremendous noise, at the close of the game lowest mark I can give. the final score stood Taney 35 Sasser 33.

Everything has a moral... Well almost everything. by Gene Dawson

Did you know that every fairy tale has a moral? Take the Three Pigs, For example. I am sure you remember how the first two pigs played and never did any work. They ended up as the" big bad wolfs" main course for dinner, But the third pig worked assiduously to build a "wolfproof" house made of brick. The moral to that story is "Do-n't put off until tommorrow what you can do today."

In another fairy tale, a young beautiful girl was forced to go to a horrible beasts! palace and live there. In "Beauty and the Beast," the girl found that the beast was an enchanted prince. To that story, I would put the moral "Beauty can be found in the most unexpected places if one looks for it."

I have thought about many morals for different tales, but have failed to come up with one for The Three Bears! If you think of one, let me know.

The Movie Of The Month by Pat Lindahl

The Broadway musical "The Music Man" was recently produced into a movie. This fabulous showing of the talents of Meredith Willson, the writer of the lyrics, the music and the story, was magnificent.

From the list of Winthrop Faroo to the trickery of Frofessor Harold Hill, this movie was greatly presented. It is my opinion that anyone who likes musical comedies, would greatly enjoy this production. No Snow "Snow" Bay by Jane Stoddard

As most of you know, state law requires that students go to school 180 days a year. The Board of Education makes allowances for snow holidays by giving us four "snow" days, making a total of 184 schooldays a year. Likewise, it is a known fact that if we do not use these snow days we must spend that time in school.

Since we have not used any of our snow days, I would like to make a proposal to Mr. Schmidt, the Board of Education, the administrators, the teachers and the students of this county.

The Proposal

 Whereas the state law recuires that students attend school for 180 days.

 Whereas the Board of Education sets aside 4 days for snow holidays, making a total of 184 schooldays.

Whereas it hasn't snowed.
 Whereas an education recuires the development of all the facilities of the mind.

 Whereas, if it doesn't snow, we will go to school four extra days.

 Whereas the imagination is a facility of the mind, ... being that part of the mind which memtally pictures scenew, people, etc. Therefore to use this facili ty of the mind stated in numbero, we propose a "no snow" snow holiday. A date such as June first, would be set aside and on this day, imaginary snow would fall. The imagination would-imagine drifts in the middle of the road and icicles hanging from every window. The radios would announce that it was a snow holiday and the students would stay home from school. It would be an official snow holiday without snow.

Dear Editor.

As far back as I can remember, the word seniority has brought fourth an instant thought of superiority and privilages. All through elementary school, we were told to "wait 'til the sixth grade," for privilages. In the seventh grade and eight grade we were told to "wait for the ninth grade".

The same is true in high school and college. The senior-year students are given the "little extras" of the ever famous senior year, allthe little things that make us feel just a little bit superior to what we were last year and the year before.

So here we are, smack in the middle of our junior high-school senior year, with the same privilages as everyone else in the school; except of course, for our cafeteria scating privilages.

We all realize that since this is a new school, it will take a while for it to get "swinging". We might try to reach a satisfactory solution with the help of our Principals, teachers, and guidence counselors.

This is important not just for ourselves, but also for all of the other ninth grade students yet to come. We should lot everyone know that Taney Rebels are superior, not only in grades but also in the ability to think and reason for ourselves. Superior? Yes, thanks to the trust and guidance of the members of the faculty of Reger B.
Tarey Junior High School.

Pear Editor,

Are we hogging our student Council?
As it is now, our Student Council is doing a fine job of representing the student body at its meetings and is making wise decisions. But, as you know, our Student Council is composed entire—ly of minth grade students, with the ex certion of the office of Parlimentarian which is held by an eight grade student.

What is to happen next year when the new minth grade students start their own Student Council? They will have had no previous experience.

Our Workshop was a wonderful effort toward enlight ning the rest of us to the proceedings, duties, and purposes of the Student Council. Is there some additional way that we could learn more about our Student Council?
